

CONTENTS

Rudolf Ungváry: Being a Non-Jew	5
Ákos Szilágyi: Paper-times	13
László Frick: Good Istóczy, are you alive yet? (A Sociography)	15
Peter Sichrovsky: Two interviews	23
I.Cserne — K.Pető — J.Szilágyi — Gy.Szóke: Mourning was missing	31
Gyula Labancz: A Sheet of Paper on the Gate	33
Imre Kertész: From a Diary	35
György Konrád: The Ethics of Self-Defence	43
Deus semper maior	45
Thoughts from Jerusalem	49
Lily Brett: Poems	54
György Timár: In a Dark Room	55
The Damascus Paper	61
André Neher: Who am I?	74
Itámár Jáoz-Keszt: Upwards in the Slope	77
Wisława Szymborska: Not yet	79
Jákov Besser: The Future War	81
Herman Wouk: Land and Faith	83
József Gréda: The Walking Halves	87
György Kardos G.: Ámosz Kenan, Writer and Phenomenon	91
Ámosz Kenan: Of Vahéb in Sufa	94
Stanislaw Benski: A London Phone-call	97
André Hajdu: The Jewishness of Gustav Mahler	101
István Hajdu: Stages of the Sacred Sensation	106
Éva Forgács: New Paintings of László Fehér	109
Hyam Maccoby: A Jew (Arthur Koestler)	113
Arthur Koestler: What does revisionism fight for?	117
Erzsébet Vezér: Foreword to an Interview	120
Andor Németh: From the Polar World to Buhara (An Interview with A. Koestler)	121
M. Gejzer: The Death of Mihoelsz	124
A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF JEWISH BOOKS AND ARTICLES	126

ILLUSTRATIONS

Sándor Bacskai: 12., 30., 34., 41., 44., 48., 59., 60., 73., 85., 89., 99. o.
 László Fehér: 90., 107., 108., 119., 123., 125. o.
 Róbert Swierkiewicz: 75., 76., 80., 82. o.

Illustrations of this issue are from vicha's Passover Haggadah (1752)
 Special thanks for Tel-Aviv's Grosskollektor family.